The Children with Serious Emotional Disorder Waiver (CSEDW) is a Medicaid Home and Community-Based Services (HCBS) program in West Virginia designed to support children and young adults aged 3 to 21 with serious emotional, behavioral, or mental health needs. The program aims to help these individuals remain in their homes and communities rather than being placed in institutional settings.

Services Provided

The CSEDW offers a range of services based on the National Wraparound Initiative model, focusing on individualized, family-centered care. Services include:

- Wraparound facilitation
- Individual and family therapy.
- In-home support services
- Independent living skills training
- Transition support
- Specialized therapy or assistive equipment
- Respite care
