When Problem Behavior Masks a Learning Disorder

Adoption Competent Mental Health · https://bridges4mentalhealth.org/hub/adoption-competence/when-problem-behavior-masks-a-learning-disorder/

The article from Child Mind Institute discusses how problem behaviors in children can sometimes mask underlying learning disorders. It emphasizes the importance of identifying these disorders early to provide appropriate support and intervention, highlighting signs parents and educators can look for and the impact of undiagnosed learning challenges on a child's development and behavior.

Read More