National Adoption Competency Mental Health Training Initiative
Advancing Practice for Permanency & Well-Being™

Easy Access Links to Info, Demos, and Enrollment

The National Adoption Competency Mental Health Training (NTI) is a free, online training to address the mental health and developmental challenges of children, youth and their foster, adoptive, and kinship families. Those who successfully complete the training receive a certificate of completion and free NASW or NBCC approved continuing education credits. The training for Child Welfare and Mental Health Professionals, originally developed with federal funding, was also adapted for school-based mental health professionals as well.
