NTI · https://bridges4mentalhealth.org/hub/nti/nti-in-practice-what-national-data-reveal-about-engagement-and-impact/

Members of the NTI team share what national data tells us about NTI's reach and impact, including:

- Where NTI is being used and who is participating
- Who completes the training—and what supports make completion more likely
- Growth in knowledge, competency, and practice

You'll also hear how participation and implementation data are being used to strengthen engagement efforts, what additional supports are available to participants, and examples from the field.

Whether you are a leader deciding whether NTI is a fit for your organization, a supervisor supporting staff participation, or a practitioner considering enrolling yourself, this session offers a look at what we are learning about NTI and what appears to support meaningful engagement and application in practice.
